Dear IBBY Australia Members and Supporters,

Attending another IBBY Congress is in one way a familiar experience, but also promises surprises. Claire Stuckey and I had an inspiring time representing our National Section, at the 38th IBBY Congress in Putrajaya, Malaysia (4–8 September). Over forty of the 80 sections of IBBY were represented there in an excellent program with many highlights.

Each Congress introduces delegates to inspiring creators as speakers, amongst whom were several international award winners in 2022. It also profiles many brilliant books from countries throughout the world via exhibitions and presentations of the HCAA nominees, the IBBY Honour List books and those included in other IBBY lists. It offers the opportunity to meet our counterparts from other national sections. And the introduction to the host country’s culture is the special aspect of each Congress. [See my Impressions of the Congress p 3.] I’m on a mission now to read as much Malaysian literature as I can and have since read some brilliant works of adult fiction. The next IBBY Congress will be in Trieste in 2024. I hope that many of our members and nominees will consider attending.

In this issue we also report on recent awards and projects. The announcement of the annual White Ravens List is always exciting and this year it contains four Australian titles. The List was celebrated at the Frankfurt Book Fair which took place in October.

In our previous newsletter we reported on writer of classic works of children’s fiction, Alan Garner, being shortlisted for the Booker Prize, which on the 17 October was won by Sri Lankan writer Shehan Karunatilaka. (Alan Garner celebrated his 88th birthday on the same day, which was noted as well.) I was delighted to read of the 2022 Booker’s second connection with children’s books. For the original trophy presented when the Booker was established in 1969 was designed by another great luminary of children’s publishing – Jan Pierikowski (1936–2022)! His statuette design has for this year’s award been revived in his honour.

As the year comes to an end, sadly, our thoughts are with the many children whose access to books, and, indeed, whose lives are at risk in so many parts of the world. We wish our members and supporters a peaceful 2023.

Yours sincerely,
Robyn Sheahan-Bright

Impressions of the 38th IBBY Congress in Putrajaya, Malaysia (4–8 September). Theme: ‘The Power of Stories’

The Congress was a great success with thanks to IBBY Malaysia President, Mr Ahmad Redza Ahmad Khairuddin, and the convenors who were our generous hosts. Two expert chairs ensured that sessions flowed smoothly, eloquently and often humorously. Several engaging cultural performances were also included in the program, which is always a highlight of IBBY Congresses, and we were introduced to many fascinating Malaysian writers and illustrators. The program includes keynote sessions and panels, and alternative panel paper sessions from which you can choose to attend from 8.30am to early evening followed by evening award ceremonies including dinner.

Day 1. ‘Pantun: the Unique Power of Malay Poetry’, the keynote address by Dr Muhammad Haji Salleh, was so entrancing that a Finnish Honour List recipient penned a pantun for him! The presentation of the IBBY-Asahi Reading Promotion Award that night was acknowledged by an inspiring speech on behalf of the Pinnguaqta, a programme of illitaqsinniq by The Nunavit Literary Council of Canada. Joint winners of the IBBY iRead Outstanding Reading Promoter Award Jane Kurtz (US) for work in Ethiopia, and Zohreh Ghaeni for her work promoting children’s literature in Iran also delivered memorable speeches.

Day 2. Various papers addressed the pressing needs of refugees and migrant children. The Honour List was presented and the keynote session speakers included the extraordinary ALMA winner Baek Heena. The HCAA 2022 awards were presented that evening to the brilliant Suzy Lee and Marie-Aude Murail, who both also spoke the next day.

Day 3. Panels I attended included our IBBY Chilean friend Mónica Munizaga, who was entertained by members of our committee in Sydney on her way to the Congress. [See story below.] A special session on seven decades of IBBY was another highlight featuring key players in that history. Ali Boozari (Iran) spoke on the Power of Images on Narrating the Peace. I also attended the General Assembly which elected new EC office bearers and addressed various issues. The gala dinner included the grand arrival of an entourage of Putrajaya dignitaries, escorted by a group in traditional Malaysian dress. They made presentations to senior IBBY representatives, and we were each given a generous gift bag. The evening included several cultural performances and a medley of ‘60s and ‘70s popular songs by two glamorous Malaysian female performers which ended with many delegates hilariously ‘conga dancing’ around the room, in a celebration of the Congress, and of the multiple cultural connections which bind us. Day 4. On this final day, one of the loveliest papers I attended was by a South Korean storyteller Alicia Dongjoo Bang who was passionate about storytelling, and utterly charming. I also attended a paper about Mohammad Nor Khalid (known as LAT), a famous cartoonist/author of The Kampong Boy, and then was delighted to hear LAT himself deliver a speech! Those filming the Congress had already collated a video of the highlights of every session, in a brilliant documentation of the program. Liz Page was also farewelled in style, with a video of highlights of her tenure. Ellis Vance, retiring as Treasurer, was presented with Life Membership.

Of the five Australians who attended, Claire Stuckey delivered an excellent paper on Asian and Muslim voices in Australian young adult literature, and Christine Oughtred gave an expert paper on her research into virtual reality enhancements to literary texts. It was a busy four days as I attended every session, in both day and night, but I wouldn’t have missed it, for the world. LAH*!

Robyn Sheahan-Bright

LAH in Malaysian can mean an affirmation, dismissal, exasperation or exclamation in different contexts. It was used, to very charming effect, in presentations.

Farewell from Liz Page

Dear Friends,

I wish to thank you all for your kind support and understanding over these many years. I hope that you will give Carolina Ballester, the new Executive Director, the same support and consideration. As a new life opens before me, it will be my memories of IBBY that will keep me company. However, I will not vanish completely — I will take over as IBBY Treasurer from Ellis Vance for the next few years. These are your new contacts and their emails.

Muna Kalati

In June Muna Kalati and APIDCA (Association des Professionnels de l’Information Documentaire du Cameroun pour l’Afrique) signed a memorandum of partnership, their desire to collaborate on certain well-determined aspects in Cité du Savoir.

In view of the similarities in their projects and actions, they have decided to cooperate on the many aspects. Find out more about this organisation.
On 23 October, the IBBY Executive met to recognise Robin Morrow’s extraordinary contribution to IBBY Australia with a special morning tea, and the presentation of a life membership. For some of the committee it was the first time we had met in person, for others the first time face to face since the Auckland Congress in 2016. Over a delicious high tea at The Tea Room in Sydney, we talked nonstop for more than an hour, sharing stories and memories of past gatherings and Congresses. Thanks for everything, Robin, and to Robyn Sheahan-Bright for organising the get together.

Sydney Visit by IBBY Chile representative

Mónica Munizaga Yávar (IBBY Chile) visited Sydney and met a few IBBY Australia members before heading to the 38th IBBY International Congress, held in Putrajaya, Malaysia.

Margot Lindgren (IBBY Australia Secretary) organised a tour of Imagine: The Wonder of Picture Books at State Library of NSW. Curator Sarah Morley answered questions and gave background to the selection of the exhibition books and the supporting material for the exhibition. Margot has penned a blog about the exhibition.

At lunch, Mónica treated us a to a mini-version of her conference presentation (Mónica Munizaga Yávar/Marian Lutzky Ribas(Chile): Gamification and creative writing in workshops of the Chilean group Qué lindo leer) as well sharing books she and her colleagues have published.

After lunch, Mónica, Margot and Dr Robin Morrow visited Redlands Junior campus, where teacher-librarian Victoria Roberts shared some books - mainly First Nations picture books and books on Australian birds. Mónica was able to read a book to one of the children visiting the library after school who by happy coincidence spoke Spanish. Mónica also enjoyed exploring nearly every book by Margaret Wild. The book Fox is popular in Chile.

Mónica Munizaga Yávar has a Master’s degree in Contemporary Hispanic American Literature (UACH), a Bachelor of Arts with a mention in Hispanic Literature and Linguistics (PUC) and a Bachelor of Education, and she is also a Spanish teacher (PUC). Currently, she works as a teacher at UACH. Robyn Sheahan-Bright and Claire Stuckey were later very pleased to meet Mónica in Putrajaya at the Congress, and to attend her session there.

CBCA NSW Receives amazing donation

The CBCA NSW Branch celebrates the very special donation that we have been gifted by a children’s book devotee, Peter Williams. Peter lived in WA and was awarded the Muriel Barlow Award by CBCA WA. He has spent a lifetime collecting first edition books that featured on the CBCA Book of the Year Awards. Many of these are signed by the creators.

In Peter’s own words: “When Patricia Wrightson’s A Little Fear (Hutchinson 1983) won the CBCA Book of the Year Award 1984, I tried for months to find a first edition copy of the book, but without success. It then occurred to me that it might be an interesting and challenging pursuit to try and put together a collection of Australian children’s literature. Such a collection would ensure not only an interesting perspective from which to view the growth and development of children’s literature in Australia, but would provide, literally, a lifetime of reading...Collecting children’s books is a never-ending story.”

The CBCA NSW branch now have the Maurice Saxby Reference collection and the Peter Williams Collection available for members, to access. If you are studying Australian Children’s Literature, please email cbcansw@outlook.com to arrange a convenient time.

The CBCA NSW executive thank Peter profusely for this very generous gift. We would also like to acknowledge Toni Field, who secured a grant from our local federal MP, the Prime Minister, the Honourable Anthony Albanese, which has enabled us to re-vitalise our office and provide storage for the precious books. The committee has worked tirelessly to remove years of clutter, unpack, alphabetise and shelve the material.

Gail Erskine CBCA NSW President.
