

Emergency Creative Kits for Displaced Children in Lebanon

Lebanese Board on Books for Young People (LBBY)

Date: 06 March 2026

Humanitarian Context

Lebanon is currently facing a severe humanitarian crisis as escalating conflict and displacement have forced thousands of families to flee their homes. Many displaced families are now living in temporary shelters such as schools, unfinished buildings, and overcrowded community centers. Children represent a large proportion of those affected. The loss of homes, schools, daily routines, and safe environments exposes children to fear, anxiety, and psychological stress. Many children experience sadness, sleep disturbances, and difficulty expressing emotions. Providing children with safe and constructive activities is essential in crisis settings. Reading, drawing, and creative expression can help children process emotions, reduce stress, and restore a sense of normal childhood experience.

Project Goal

To support the psychosocial well-being of displaced children in Lebanon by providing creative learning kits that encourage reading, drawing, and emotional expression.

Objectives

- Provide displaced children with safe and engaging creative materials.
- Support children's emotional expression and stress relief through drawing and coloring.
- Encourage reading and imagination through age■appropriate storybooks.
- Restore a sense of normalcy and personal ownership for children affected by displacement.

Creative Learning Kits

Each displaced child will receive a Creative Learning Kit packed in a reusable tote bag. Each kit will include:

- One age■appropriate storybook
- One white drawing copybook
- One coloring box with age■appropriate colors

Age Groups

Age Group	Contents
2–5 Years	Illustrated early childhood storybook, drawing copybook, basic crayons
6–9 Years	Illustrated storybook, drawing or anti■stress coloring book, coloring set
10–15 Years	Storybook or short novel, drawing copybook or coloring book, colored pencils

Expected Impact

- Emotional relief and stress reduction for displaced children.
- Opportunities for children to express feelings through drawing and creativity.
- Encouragement of reading and imagination despite disrupted schooling.
- Restoration of small moments of normal childhood activity.

Budget

The estimated cost for each Creative Learning Kit is USD 10 per child. This includes the storybook, drawing copybook, coloring materials, tote bag, and packaging and distribution costs.
